Vice Chancellor,
Panjab University, Chandigarh

Dear Sir,

I am pleased to inform you that the Advanced Small Animal Research Facility of PGIMER is completing 10 years of its inception on Sunday, 11th April, 2021. On this occasion, we are organizing a one-day online [UTF-8?] CME, ANIMAL MODELS IN HEALTH AND [UTF-8?] DISEASE. The organizing committee is honored to invite you and look forward to your kind participation to make this event a grand success. The invitation letter along with the program of CME is enclosed herewith. I am also enclosing the e-flyer of the CME along with the registration form. Kindly give it a wide circulation amongst your faculty colleagues and students for their active participation.

Regards,

Indu Verma

INVITATION

A decade back, on April 11, 2011, a state of the art Advanced Small Animal Research Facility was set up at PGIMER, Chandigarh. To commemorate this day, a one day online CME on the theme, "Animal Models in Health and Disease" is being organized on 11th April 2021, at PGIMER, Chandigarh.

Animal research is crucial not only for closing the knowledge gaps on the pathogenesis but also develop new diagnostics and treatments for various diseases. There are several examples where research on animals has resulted in new vaccine and drugs, thus helped end the diseases. However, animal research for humankind is a privilege and not the right. Hence, humane care of laboratory animals is essential, both ethically and scientifically.

The CME will update the clinicians and the researchers regarding the use of animal models for various diseases. There would be lectures by eminent scientists from India and USA with focus on clinical applications of some of the research ideas being pursued by them using novel animal models. The organizing committee is honored to invite you and look forward to your kind participation to make this event a grand success. Program of CME is enclosed herewith.
