Subject: SEEK- Self Directed Emotional Learning for Empathy and [UTF-8?]Kindness & YWP for developing social emotional learning skills

Respected Sir/Madam,

AICTE, in its commitment to deliver quality and holistic education, has joined hands and signed (MoU) with UNESCO Mahatma Gandhi Institute of Education for Peace and Sustainable Development. UNESCO MGIEP is a category 1 UNESCO research institute in education that focuses on achieving the UN Sustainable Development Goal towards education for building peaceful and sustainable societies across the world. The objective of this collaboration is to equip the youth with socio-emotional learning and critical thinking skills to deal with challenging situations and guide educators on how to help young people become resilient future leaders through MGIEP's SEEK & YWP Courses (<https://mgiep.unesco.org/seek>) (In line with the Principles of NEP 2020).

As the world recovers from the pandemic it is increasingly clear that emotional resilience life skills are as important as cognitive intellectual learnings. These are life skills for human flourishing that are also now recognized as critical by job employers and HR professionals among their employees. Considering the need, UNESCO MGIEP has developed two such science-based courses for youth (18y-34y) who are the future of every nation. The courses Self-directed Emotional Learning for Empathy and Kindness (SEEK) (unesco.org) and "Social Emotional Learning for Youth Waging Peace" (SEL4YWP), are designed to train young learners with all these essential life skills and will also contribute directly to the attainment of UN sustainable development goal 4.7 for fostering peaceful and sustainable societies and are available on MGIEP's own Indigenous AI powered digital platform Framerspace.

" Looking at the importance of these courses, you are requested to create awareness among your faculty members and students as developing emotional intelligence skill is critical to leading more fulfilling and successful lives.
